

Second generation indigenous

bibliography

What will be part of the social status of the indigenous descendants who are the grandsons of those families who have been forced to emigrate from their places of origin to other unknown lands where societies are different in their ways of life and also the different ethnic groups

- The trajectory of these families in what its origins have their customs and in the society they inhabit have different customs

The descendants of these immigrants are citizens of the Western society that are materialistic and consumerist societies

The tree of life

The ancestors

The descendants parents

The children

The life of the ancestors

Mother nature that everything da
and removes it

Healthy life in harmony

Full freedom without stress or anxiety that life

Migrants

Poverty, hunger misery wars forced to flee to other

The descendants of the emigrations

The second generation life new and different to that of their ancestors

Western Customs and education

Religion of their ancestors

Western friends

Marriages of the first world

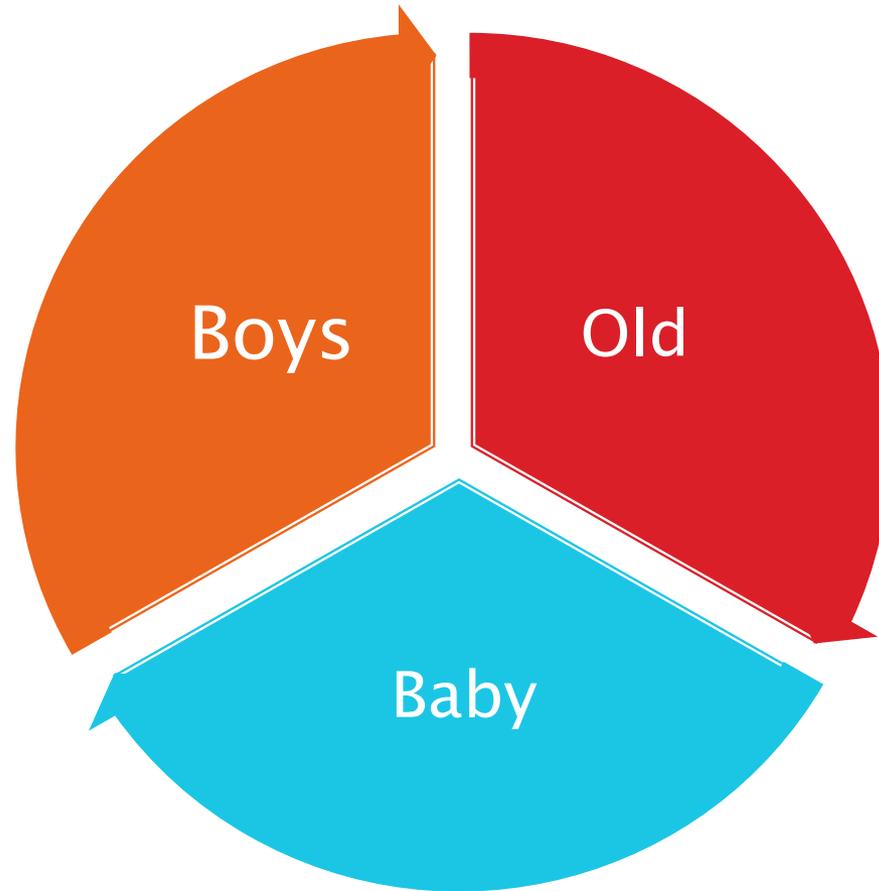

Children of the first world

Interculturality

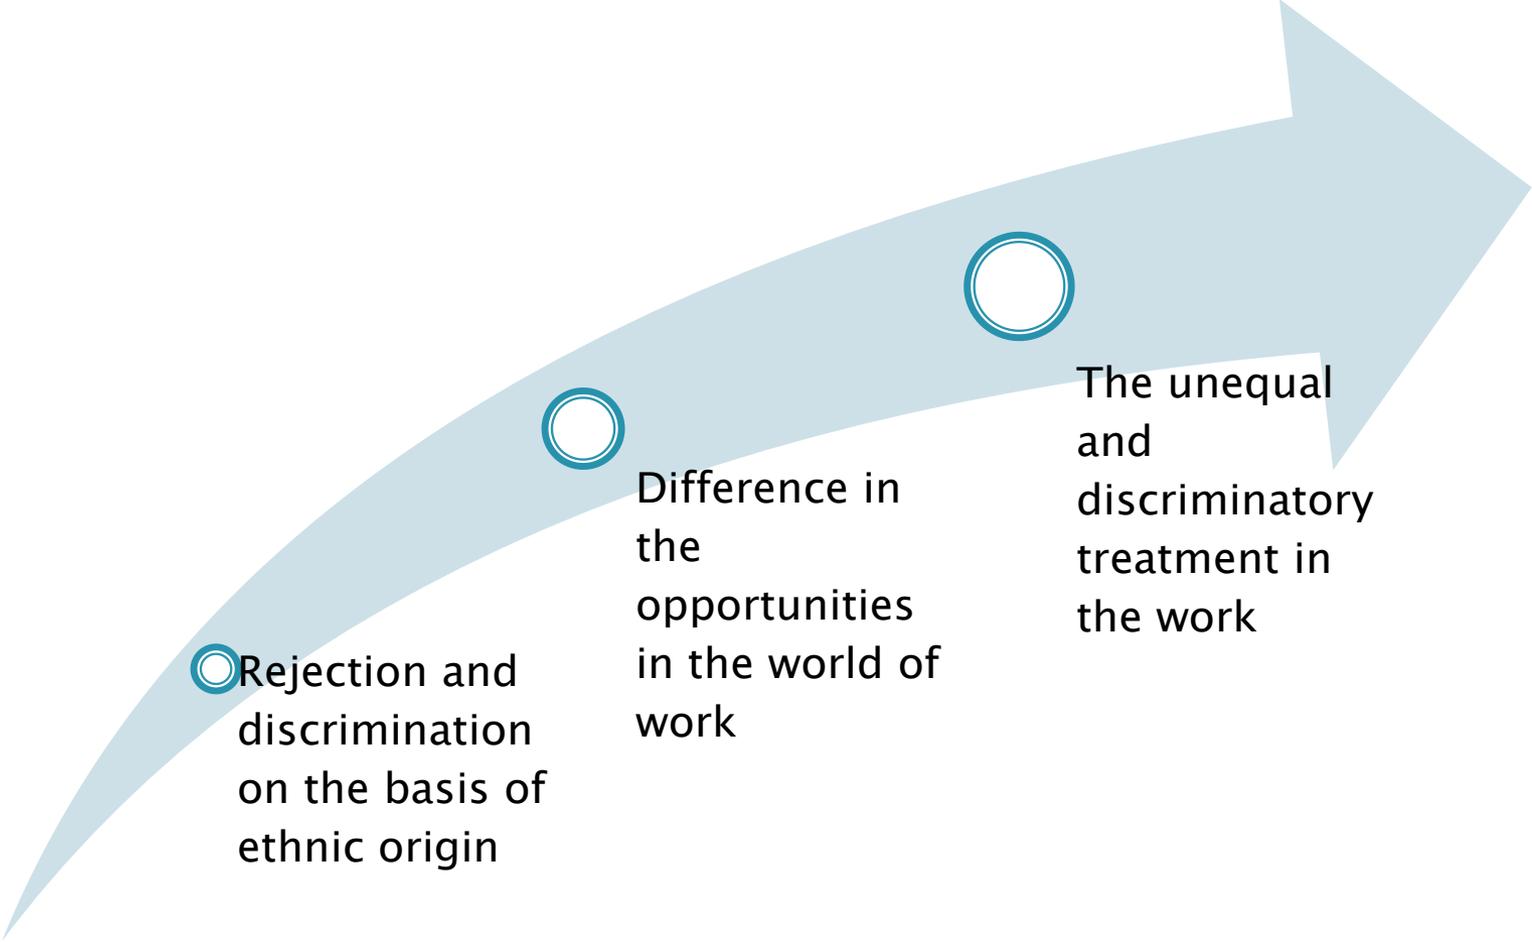

Cosmopolitan Society

Without Borders

The life of this new generations

Future in the world of work

Rejection and discrimination on the basis of ethnic origin

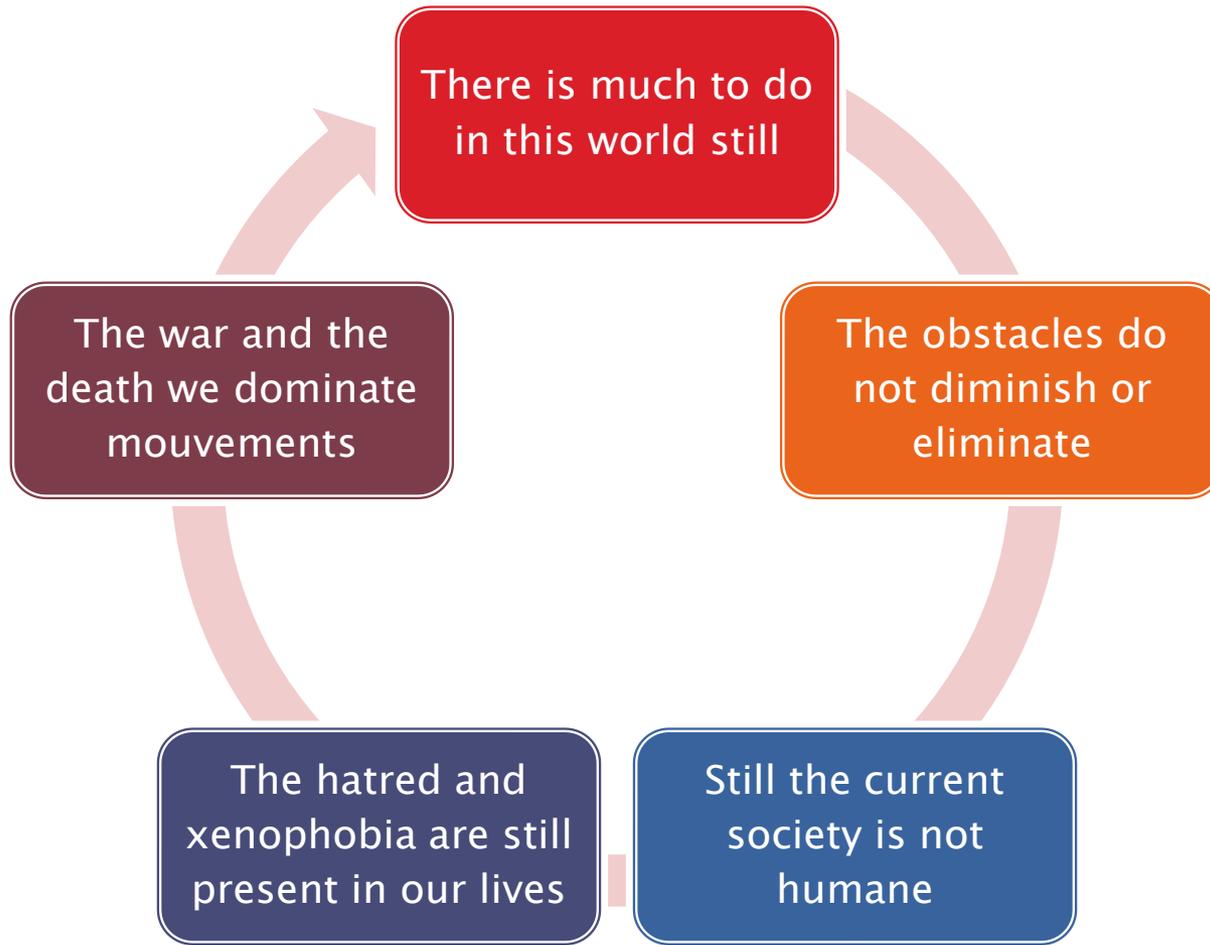

Difference in the opportunities in the world of work

The unequal and discriminatory treatment in the work

Life in the intercultural Marriage

Completion of these intercultural barriers

Images for life

